Partnership Opportunity

Partner with Afrokids.com! Afrokids.com is seeking partners who share mutual interest in our mission of reaching the African American family with children and have "like kind" services to exchange that can benefit all parties.

Your partnership will benefit from the rich media in entertainment and educational content. Content that children and parents can enjoy while at the same time see themselves as achievers, dreamers, and heroes. Children can begin to realize their own potential, develop self worth, and most of all, know that they are somebody.

Participate and share in this opportunity utilizing the growing world wide internet and the new developing technologies, while promoting the Afrokids.com mission to empower families in building our children's self esteem and cultural heritage through educational and entertainment media.
